Grace Brown's Pleading Letters Unnerve Officials.

EMOTION FORCES A RECESS

Twelve Missives of Mingled Re-Across Moose Lake to Be Unfolded by Witnesses To-day.

Grace Brown wrote to Chester Gillette while she was in South Otselic, at her father's home, waiting for him to come and right the wrong which he had done her, were read in court to-day.

The death cry of Grace Brown, which rang across Big Moose Lake, was her

RATE BILL AMENDMENT SURE. Hepburn Says Congress Will Pass

Any that Are Needed. Representative Hepburn, of Iowa hairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, believes that if any amendments are necessary to strengthen the rate law they will be promptly passed by Congress. He thinks the sentiment that prevailed last session remedial legislation will receive ready support. He has not discussed the matter with the Interstate Commerce Commission and does not yet know what amendments will

Mr. Hepburn says that if Presiden Roosevelt recommends an inheritance tax it is likely Congress will pass such a law. He voted for the last income tax law, and sees no reason why a tax should not be levied on legacies.,

The only amendment to the pure food law suggested by Mr. Hepburn is a provision to compel manufacturers to indi age sold. In his opinion other amend ments may be required to make the act effective in all particulars.
